

Course Description

Notable strides have been made in the management of neurological conditions such as Alzheimer's Disease, epilepsy, pain, multiple sclerosis, headache and migraine, Parkinson's Disease, and in the field of neuro-oncology. 4th ANNUAL ADVANCES IN NEUROTHERAPEUTICS will present cutting-edge information by leading UCLA researchers in these disease states. Presentations will emphasize optimal pharmacotherapies for neurological disorders and recent research advances. This conference is relevant for community-based and academic-based neurologists, primary care physicians, neurosurgeons, neuro-oncologists, nurses, and all health professionals involved in treatment of neurological diseases.

Course Objectives

After attending this one-day course, attendees should be better able to:

- Provide care for patients with neurological disorders and neurodegenerative diseases
- Utilize diagnostic techniques for neurological disorders
- Describe new therapies in various diseases and conditions across the neurological spectrum of disorders
- Discuss clinical trials with patients and offer recommendations regarding new therapies in development for various neurological disorders.

Accreditation

The Office of Continuing Medical Education, David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The Office of Continuing Medical Education, David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA designates this educational activity for a maximum of 5.5 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Disclosure Statement

The FDA has issued a concept paper which classifies commercial support of scientific and educational programs as promotional unless it can be affirmed that the program is "truly independent" and free of commercial influence. In addition to independence, the FDA requires that non-promotional, commercially supported education be objective, balanced, and scientifically rigorous. The policy further states that all potential conflicts of interest of the CME staff and faculty be fully disclosed to the program's participants. In addition, Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education policy now mandates that the provider adequately manage all identified potential conflicts of interest prior to the program. We, at UCLA, fully endorse the letter and spirit of these concepts.
